

In the Specification

Kindly replace paragraph [0008] on page 3 of the specification with the following:

[0008] The power coupler may comprise one or more electrical outlets on the programmable temperature control system, for example, that may be used to individually control heating and cooling devices. The power controller may also include [[an]] a power coupler for removeably engaging a power supply, such as an electrical outlet.